

FOR MAYOR OF RALEIGH

Primary to Be Held March 27 and Fight Grows Warm.

SEVEN NOW IN THE RACE

As There Will Be No Republican or Independent Opposition the Nomination at the Primary is Equivalent to Election.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
RALEIGH, N. C., March 17.—The Democratic executive committee of the city met this morning and called the primary for the selection of candidates for the May election for March 27, and made arrangements in detail for the holding of the primary. The nominations in the primary will be equivalent to election, as there will be no Republican or independent opposition. The fight for the mayoralty will be a hard one, with seven candidates thus far in the field.

There was no formal observance of St. Patrick's Day in Raleigh. Green ribbons and other St. Patrick's Day emblems were conspicuous on the laps of the coats of many people, and show windows of a number of business houses were decorated for the occasion. St. Patrick's Day was observed in the city of Raleigh, N. C., by the wearing of green ribbons and other St. Patrick's Day emblems.

The July, 1902, bulletin of the North Carolina Agricultural Department, on "Breeds of Beef Cattle," has been adopted in the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Raleigh. It is a text book for the agricultural students. An order for 100 copies for that purpose was received yesterday. Commissioner Patterson and other officers of the department are much gratified at this compliment to their work.

Gov. Aycock has received an invitation to attend the conference for education to be held at Richmond, April 22. He has not yet given any indication as to whether he can attend or not. The probability, though, is that he will attend.

The only change in the North Carolina election law of 1901 by the recent Legislature was an amendment to the clause exempting parties relieved of poll-tax from the necessity of producing a poll-tax receipt in order to be allowed to vote. The amendment is that no person shall be allowed to vote on any election unless he has paid the poll-tax, or unless he has been exempted by a board of commissioners, unless the same shall have been granted on or before the first day of May in the year in which he offers to vote, and bears date on or before that date. The purpose of this is to prevent county commissioners from exempting parties from the poll-tax until after the election, and thus giving them an opportunity to get their votes.

The Agricultural and Mechanical College Dramatic Club will present at the Academy of Music, April 13, the popular play, "The Ship to Nowhere." A careful investigation by insurance Commissioner Young into the origin of the recent fire in the plant of the White Furniture Company at Mebane develops the fact that it was not incendiary. He found that a small boy poured some gasoline over some waste and set it on fire. The boy, who is now in the hospital, is being treated for burns. The fire was caused by the boy's carelessness, and not by any incendiary intent.

DIED FROM LOCKJAW

Ten-Year-Old Boy Stepped on a Wire Nail While Playing.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
CHARLOTTE, N. C., March 17.—Daniel Caudle, the ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Caudle, who live on West Seventh Street, died this morning as the result of a severe attack of lockjaw. The little fellow, while playing several days ago, stepped on a nail, one of the sharp wire variety. It pierced his shoe and penetrated his foot to a depth of at least an inch or more. The wound did not seem to be a serious one, and there was no thought but that the little fellow would soon recover. Three days ago symptoms of that dreaded disease, lockjaw, appeared, and all of yesterday the boy was hovering between life and death. Last night heroic treatment was resorted to, but to no avail. The little fellow died in great agony this morning.

Conductor O. W. Loving, of the Southern Railway, returned last night from the County Court house, where he acted as a witness before the grand jury of that county in the case of Robert Hamilton, who is charged with wrecking a Southern train at Ravenworth, Va., on the night of February 15th. The grand jury returned a verdict of guilty against Hamilton. The man, Bob Hamilton, has at different times worked as a section hand for the Southern. Once before he was wrecked, but the jury failed to convict him. This time the detectives think they have a good case against him, and some sensational evidence is promised.

Mr. Julius Hardin, secretary and treasurer of the Mecklenburg Fair Association, arrived in Charlotte last night. Mr. Hardin states that the May meet in Charlotte is going to be the greatest event in the history of the State. The programme as mapped out, includes some of the fastest horses in the country. The dates will be May 19th and 20th.

the enterprise languished only because circumstances conspired against its being pushed as it ought have been.

Mr. Herbert Lutterloh, a very large poultry farmer, is stocking an extensive poultry farm on his country place, six miles west of Fayetteville, and will raise eggs and chickens, principally for the New York market. He has ample means to conduct the business by the best methods, and his place on Beaver Creek seems almost made for fowl-raising—a loamy soil, with sand and gravel, and a dry range, and an unlimited supply of pure water.

On account of the illness of Right Rev. Dr. A. A. Watson, Bishop of the Eastern Episcopal Diocese of North Carolina, Bishop Cheevers, of the Western Diocese, yesterday made the annual visitation to St. John's Church, in this city, and administered the rite of confirmation. His morning sermon was able and scholarly, and was heard with pleasure by a large congregation.

Bishop Coke Smith, of the North Carolina Methodist Conference, has appointed Rev. J. D. Hurley, of Raleigh, N. C., to be presiding elder of the Fayetteville District. Vice Rev. B. B. Hall, deceased.

DURHAM'S DEPOT

Col. Andrews, of the Southern, Shows Plans for a Union Station.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
DURHAM, N. C., March 17.—Though the Superior Court was in session with Judge W. R. Allen on the bench, the railroad and depot question was paramount yesterday. Colonel A. B. Andrews, first vice-president of the Southern Railway, was here in the morning, and was met by the leading citizens in the parlors of the Elks Hall, wherein he exhibited the fine hand of diplomacy and those for which he is noted. Drawings were submitted for a 40,000 depot, and the people asked if there were any objections desired in the plans. Among those present and participating were Messrs. George W. Watts, General Julian S. Carr, J. B. Stagg and W. T. O'Brien. Colonel Andrews left at 10 A. M., and another meeting was held at 3 P. M., presided over by W. A. Bland, chairman of the city "Board of Trade."

James A. Southgate in a short speech told how the Southern had the law on the city and deplored the utter helplessness under existing conditions. The only thing the meeting did was to request the city to appoint a committee to arrange a meeting of the three railroads with the view of getting the union depot. It is no thought here that the Norfolk and Western and Seaboard roads will accept the site proposed by Colonel Andrews, which is on the Southern's property, and would permit him to demand trackage of the other roads to get in.

The committee will endeavor to get them together between now and the 1st of April, when it is hoped something definite will be concluded.

COMPETING COAL ROAD

Standard Oil Company Said to Be Back of Deepwater Ry

TO THE ATLANTIC COAST

The Company is Now Busily at Work in Raleigh County Building Its Road to the Virginia Line. Project to Be Vigorously Pushed.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NEWPORT NEWS, VA., March 17.—A letter, received and a direct road to the president of a well established and successful railroad now operating in West Virginia, who will not permit the use of his name for business reasons, recently sent out from Clifton Forge to the effect that the Deep-Water Railway Company, operating in the Kanawha valley, is planning to build a road from the Atlantic coast, thereby establishing an important competing trunk line. When this announcement was made several days ago the statement was also made that the new railroad would be a seaboard line and a direct competitor of the Chesapeake and Ohio and Norfolk and Western Railroads in getting out Kanawha and Poonahontas coal for the eastern markets. The Deep-Water road, according to the report, was recently granted a charter for the extension of its lines through the counties of Fayette, Raleigh, Monroe, Wyoming, Summers, and Mercer to the Virginia State line. The letter, received, however, is not official, but it is believed that the statement made above, and added that the Standard Oil Company is back of the Deep-Water road. The letter, in part, follows:

"No information about the Deep-Water road, as set out in your article, so far as my information goes, is substantially correct. My information, which I believe to be reliable, is that the Standard Oil Company owns the Deep-Water enterprise, and I have heard it said by people whose judgment I have high regard for, that the Standard Oil Company is doing a great deal of work in Raleigh county now in the way of grading, and that their pay-roll for this work amounts to about $7,000 or $8,000 per month. This last statement may not be correct, however."

It is understood that the proposed route will run through the headwaters of the Coal and Guyan Rivers, thence through the Allegheny Mountains about twenty miles south of Allegheny Station, on the Chesapeake and Ohio. The route of the proposed road will develop an immense quantity of mineral land.

Gilden struck on the outer Cape Lookout Shoals, one on the north and the other on the south side of the shoals. The fog lifted about 11 o'clock to-day, when the life-saving crew immediately put off to assist them. Before reaching them the steamship floated, took the crew off the schooner and proceeded east. The schooner is submerged. The station crew did not board her. Wrecking tugs have been wired for.

On Old Negro Dead.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
CREWE, VA., March 17.—Spencer Knight, a venerable and highly respected negro man, nearly ninety years of age, died near here yesterday.

Spencer was bought by Dr. O. M. Knight's father from the estate of Abram Buford, and brought to Nottingham in the early forties. He was faithful during the war, his master's family being in the service. He was a good teller of incidents, showing his ingenuity in his old age. He never lived a more peaceful life than he did in his old age. He was a secret, and preferred to affiliate with the Democratic party. He was a kindly cared for during his illness, and he had a great many friends among both white and colored.

FAIR YOUNG MILITIAMEN

Splendid Drill of Pretty Girls at Confederate Fair.

THEIR WORK WAS PERFECT

Second Night of the Big Bazaar at the Masonic Temple is Highly Successful and Most Enjoyable.

A still larger crowd assembled in the hall of the Masonic Temple last night than the evening before. Miss Mary Cusitis Lee, Mrs. A. J. Montague, Governor Charles T. O'Ferrall, Miss Ruby Bodeker, Mrs. Hoskins, Mrs. James Keith, Miss Bettie Clarke, and others were on the platform, where they had the advantage of seeing the military drill by the young ladies to better advantage.

The middle space in the hall was roped off and ample room was left to show the manoeuvres of the young soldiers. The young ladies, under the leadership of Colonel Lane Stern and Captain Josephine Sullivan, entered the hall at 9 o'clock. The names of those who made up the company were Miss Hattie Shields, Miss Juliet Keith, Miss Eugene Taylor, Miss Lissa Archer, Miss Ellen Anderson, Miss Rose Satterfield, Miss Kathleen Bruce, Miss Nannie Selden, Miss Ida Fleming, Miss Kathleen Walker, Miss Mary Butler, Miss Beale Jackson, Miss Ella Buck, Miss Beale Lindsey, Miss Ellen Witt, Miss Satterfield, Miss Fannie Warwick, Miss Julia Hammond, Miss Anita Cussons, Miss Julia Joyner, Miss Page Royall, Miss Carrie Reynolds and Miss Julia Osterloh.

A storm of enthusiastic cheering greeted their entrance. They came in with their pretty red and white uniforms, their white cocked hats, with jaunty red bows, and their fresh, sweet, smiling faces, and the big crowd of spectators stamped and cheered themselves hoarse.

As soon as quiet was restored Captain Sullivan formed her company in line and called the roll, as follows:

Standard Bearer, A. J. Montague—Miss Royall.

First Guide, William E. Cameron—Miss Anderson.

Second Guide, C. T. O'Ferrall—Miss Younger.

Third Guide, Fitz Lee—Miss Bruce.

Last Guide, J. Hoge Tyler—Miss Watkins.

Provost Guard, S. B. Witt—Miss Buck.

Lance Corporal, Stuart McGuire—Miss Archer.

Chief Cook, Jo Lane Stern—Miss Satterfield.

SPLENDID DRILL

The drill which succeeded the roll-call was a most interesting and well executed one. The young ladies, in their uniforms, strapped with red, in plumed hats, and with sword, to say nothing of the highest heels, were a sight to behold. Every movement with the utmost precision, and the young voices gave the commands as clearly and as unflinchingly as a veteran officer could have done. The company marched two by two, by fours, by eights, and by twelves, with the most difficult and intricate movements as easily and as composedly as if they had been doing such things all their lives. The gaslights were turned off, and the pictures taken. Then the crowd cheered wildly again, the company broke ranks, and everybody had a good time talking, laughing and walking around.

The difference between the drill and the pictures taken, then the crowd cheered wildly again, the company broke ranks, and everybody had a good time talking, laughing and walking around.

Other booths have been equally successful and all seemed to look forward to future good fortune and to be pleased over the outcome of their efforts. Those who assisted Mrs. A. von N. Rosenegk at the Basket Booth last night were Mrs. W. J. Ebel, Mrs. A. Luebert, Misses Minnie Grimmel, Elsie Brauer, Louise Nennighausen and Katherine Phillips.

At the Tobacco Booth, where the break trade was going on, Mr. B. Dupuy and Mr. W. C. Moody won respectively a handsome leather purse and cigar case and are requested to call to-night and have the same delivered to them.

Upstairs in the Restaurant, Colonel J. Lane Stern took his young soldiers for a lesson. They were seated at a table to themselves and made a most attractive picture.

The features of yesterday afternoon was a display by Miss Kidwell's class. The children were handsomely dressed, and fancy figures, including the Highland fling, Tambourine and Scarf dance made the figures very pretty. The children were Misses Sarah Rosenbloom, Mary Powell, Mary Brown, Margaret

The Passing of Satan, Death and Hell

BY COL. A. J. ROGERS.

(Written while a sojourner at Lee Camp Soldiers' Home, Richmond, Va., because of wounds), Author of "THE PROMISE OF PEACE" and other works. The unique title of this NEW STORY succinctly prefaces this remarkable book, while the author proves his theory step by step, and demonstrates that, in the fulness of the times of the Christian Regeneration, man comes forth anew and free of the bondage of Satan and consequent death, hell and the grave, an immortal spirit-substantial man, perfect, even as our Father which is in Heaven is perfect; Satan and all that is inimical to God, thenceforward, forever and eternally non est. For, in the fulness of man's regeneration there verily comes a new and eternal state of things—the Son of Man is manifest, God all in all, the temporal earth and the heavens thereof, is then past, carrying with them all that was born of or emanated from Adam's disloyalty, and whatsoever is inimical to the Christ, for in the new and eternal earth and heavens—then remaineth—there is never any more place found for Satan and his kingdom, which could only be in and of the passing temporal earth—the curse of the ground—made for fallen man's sake, until the day of man's re-creation and the restitution of all things of God. But see the BOOK. It is indeed unique. Secure a copy at once. Only 1,000 copies ordered at present. Price ONE DOLLAR per copy. Agents and Carvers wanted. Address all communications to

THE PHILLIES ARE OUT OF PRACTICE

The Manager Begins to Put Them Through Their Paces.

In their first skirmish at Broad Street Park yesterday, the National League Philadelphia team did not appear to any great advantage, as all of the men were very sore and evidently out of practice. In toasting the ball from man to man they appeared all right, but when it came to batting, pitching, fielding, and running bases, there was "nothing doing."

However, at the end of practice Fred Zimmer, the manager, who himself donned a uniform, said he was well pleased with the result, and he predicted that the team would make a good showing in the coming season. He said, "I am sure that the team will be in good shape when they begin their regular season."

At present only sixteen men are in the team, although a number of others are expected within a few days, when the practice will live up considerably. A number of those who are yet to show up are old-timers, and will put spirit into the game.

At present a question of a few days before Manager Zimmer will divide the aggregation into two teams, when almost daily exhibition contests are probable.

"Squire Donati has arranged for the appearance of a number of college teams to tackle the Philadelphia team, and the tests promise to prove exciting, the students having an even chance with the professionals on account of having had much more practice. Efforts are being made to bring the nine from the University to Richmond, and this may be accomplished."

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY USED TO STOP DIAMONDS

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NEW YORK, March 17.—According to a story told at the Custom House yesterday, the steamer Finland, of the Red Star Line, was stopped off Coney Island while on her way to sea last Saturday, and a package of diamonds consigned to Jiggy, Gascoigne & Seacraft taken off.
